

HAMMOND-TOOKE, DAVID: THE ROOTS OF BLACK SOUTH AFRICA. Jonathan Ball, Johannesburg, 1993.

A must for every history teacher. The challenges of explaining the precolonial and tribal histories of the black peoples of South Africa will face teachers with a daunting task and a serious responsibility. In a well written and lovely illustrated book the well-known anthropologist gives a brief but penetrating overview of the history, traditions and customs of the black peoples of South Africa.
