I am deeply grateful to the Faculty of Theology, Potchefstroom University for Christian Higher Education for the privilege of presenting this dissertation.

My deep appreciation to my supervisor, Prof. C.J.H. Venter, for his guidance and proper advice, as well as encouragement. He has always been kind and gentle to me personally.

A special word of gratitude is also due to Mrs. Anna Geyser for her painstaking efforts in checking and editing my dissertation in English, and to Prof. Annette Combrink, Head of English Department, for proof-reading, and to my friends, Manie, Hendrine, Marilda, Louie and Hestie, who taught me and my family English and Afrikaans.

Appreciation goes to my Korean colleagues who are studying at the Potchefstroom University, and to my friends in Korea who prayed for me.

Finally I gratefully acknowledge that this work would have been humanly impossible to finish had it not been for the sacrifice and patience of my wife, Shin-Myeong, and three children, Jin, Yae-Eun, Yae-Jin. I am always sorry for them because I did not share enough time with them. I would like to thank my mother and parents-in-law warmly who continually supporting me in prayer.
